To Whom It May Concern:

The Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission (CRITFC) invites you to submit a quotation for (4) four police pursuit vehicles to be used by our Enforcement Department for general law enforcement patrols along the Columbia River.

CRITFC is a subdivision of the tribal governments of the Warm Springs, Yakama, Umatilla, and Nez Perce tribes. Headquartered in Portland, Oregon, CRITFC has been active in managing fisheries and putting fish back in the rivers since 1977. For more information on CRITFC and its Enforcement department, please visit our website at www.critfc.org

Although the below listed requirements and details are subject to change or modification, please match them as closely as possible with your quotation. All final specifications shall be negotiated and finalized by purchase order or contract.

CRITFC is entitled to purchase from the GSA schedule, but is not required to do so. You may submit either GSA or open market pricing.

We anticipate that the contractor whose proposal is the best solution for our project will be selected by October 01, 2021. Quotes must be valid through November 30, 2021. We will notify all contractors, whether they are disqualified, rejected, or unsuccessful although responsive.

Selection will be based on the ability of the proposed solution to meet the specifications below, and the anticipated price of the solution.
I will be the single point of contact for all inquiries and correspondences. Please send your quotations and three references for your company, via email, by the deadline of September 24, 2021. (Please see Section VIII for details).

Please also submit DUNS numbers for your company to facilitate our credential evaluation.

We thank you for your time, effort, and interest in meeting our project needs.

Thank you,
Captain Jerry Ekker

I. Background
CRITFC operates and maintains thirty-one tribal fishing access sites located along the 150-mile stretch of the Columbia River (Zone 6). These sites are for the exclusive use of Indian fishers from the four CRITFC member tribes. The Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fisheries Enforcement (CRITFE) department, located in Hood River, Oregon, consists of patrol officers, dispatchers, and other administrative personnel who provide 24-hour protection of those sites. In addition to protecting tribal treaty fishing access sites, the CRITFE also provides assistance for other public safety concerns as well as archaeological site protection. Currently, the Enforcement department is in need of a new marked patrol unit to add to their existing fleet.

II. Specifications
Specifications are provided to identify the products/service required and to establish an acceptable quality and compatibility level. When an article of particular make, model or trade name is specified, it is meant to establish a quality standard and is not intended to eliminate competing articles of equal quality. Contractors are at liberty to quote on substitutions provided that complete specifications are included with the quote.

Unless otherwise specified, information to address equivalent substitutes in brand name or equal descriptions must include published information and descriptions that demonstrate equivalent functionality in terms of significant (or other specified, e.g. form, fit or function) performance characteristics; similar duration and scope of warranty protections; comparable experience with the same, similar, or predecessor product line; and an adequate period (or minimum period specified in the solicitation) of customer support experience to demonstrate a comparable acceptable level and availability of customer support.

The determination of whether a proposed substitute is acceptable is completely within the discretion of the CRITFC.

A listing of standard and available police pursuit vehicles options can be found at the following: http://www.gmfleet.com/previous-model-year/specialty-vehicles/police/chevy-tahoe-ppv.html
